

MONGOLIAN ARCHEOLOGICAL QUEST

June 15-28, 2025

In collaboration with National University of Mongolia, Department of Anthropology and Archeology

TRIP SUMMARY

Join Dr. Iderkhangai and our expert archaeological team on a unique expedition to one of Mongolia's most significant new archaeological discoveries in Selenge province. This exclusive trip will provide an in-depth exploration of the ancient civilizations that once thrived in Mongolia, spanning the late Bronze Age, the Hunnu Empire, and the Xianbei period.

Dr. Iderkhangai, an accomplished archaeologist with a proven track record of groundbreaking discoveries, will guide the team with his expertise. His previous work includes uncovering the Hunnic royal palace at Lunchen and deciphering monumental inscriptions that have reshaped our understanding of Mongolia's ancient history.

Our destination, first uncovered in 2018, has revealed artifacts from three different historical periods, intricately layered within the same burial site—a rare and fascinating discovery. This expedition will offer a rare chance to work alongside experienced researchers, gain hands-on excavation skills, and immerse oneself in Mongolia's stunning landscapes and vibrant culture. As we delve into the depths of history, we invite you to join us on this thrilling journey of discovery and insight.

ABOUT GUEST LECTURER

Dr. Iderkhangai Tumor-ochir is a leading Mongolian archaeologist with over two decades of experience in the field. Since 2003, he has worked on numerous international projects, collaborating with experts from Turkey, France, Switzerland, Russia, and South Korea. His career spans major excavations, including the Hunnic settlement of Bayanbulag and the discovery of royal tombs in Arkhangai Province.

In 2017, Dr. Iderkhangai earned his PhD from the Russian Academy of Sciences, and since then, he has led groundbreaking research in Mongolia.

Among his notable achievements is the discovery of the Hunnic royal palace at Lunchen (the “Dragon City”), where his team uncovered artifacts with the inscription “Son of Heaven Shanyu,” a globally significant find.

His work has also shed light on the connections between the Bronze Age Square Tomb culture and the Huns, bridging key gaps in Mongolian history. Dr. Iderkhangai’s findings have been consistently recognized at Mongolia’s top archaeological conferences, earning him multiple awards for his research. He continues to lead archaeological expeditions across the country, contributing to the deeper understanding of Mongolia’s ancient civilizations.

ITINERARY

TRAVEL NOTES

How to get to Mongolia

The official Mongolian international civil flight carriers Mongolian Airlines or MIAT. Currently it serves flights between Beijing, Seoul, Tokyo, Hong Kong, Bangkok and Frankfurt. Other popular airlines include Asiana, Pusan and Turkish airlines. South Korea is the most common international gateway city to Ulaanbaatar. Mongolian Airlines and Turkish Airlines fly daily to/from Istanbul. If you are coming from Europe, you may also find Turkish Airlines a convenient connection. During the summer season, if no seats are available on any of these major carriers, there are ways to fly to Mongolia through local cities in China and Russia. Please contact us for more information. The seats are usually in high demand and booking needs to be done well in advance.

Visa Information

U.S, Canadian, Japanese, Australian and citizens of most European counties are allowed to enter Mongolia without a visa for up to 30 days. All other nationals are required to get a visa before entering Mongolia.

Weather

Mongolia enjoys over 280 sunny days a year. However, because Mongolia has a continental weather pattern, weather can fluctuate drastically during any given day. We recommend packing warm clothes even if you are coming during the hottest months. Our pre-departure information will provide details regarding the weather along with a suggested packing list. Layering is the best plan to be ready for a wide array of Mongolian weather patterns.

Accommodation

Newly renovated Soviet era hotels are located at some of the best locations in downtown Ulaanbaatar. They offer comfortable rooms and friendly services. There are also newer hotels like Kempinski Khan Palace, Ramada Ulaanbaatar and Best Western Inn. The countryside accommodations are arranged in “ger camps,” which provide authentic nomadic felt tents with centralized bathroom and toilet facilities located nearby. They offer clean, comfortable beds and plentiful meals.

Safety

Mongolia is devoid of any political, religious and ethnic sectarian conflicts and is considered one of the safest countries in the world for international travelers. However, like in any other country, crimes do happen, so a good sense of caution and respect shown to the locals can help to avoid unnecessary confrontations. Mongolians are generally hospitable people who love to interact with foreigners.

Food

Mongolia’s capital, Ulaanbaatar, hosts an excellent collection of fine restaurants of international cuisine. In the countryside, tour establishments offer hearty meals with a balance of meat and vegetables. Meat in Mongolia is excellent in that the whole country is essentially “free-range” terrain. Even your strictest dietary restrictions can now be met with proper information in advance and preparation by us.

Information about Currency and Payment Methods

Mongolia's national currency is called tugrik and the exchange rate is about 3,400 tugrik to a US dollar. Major currencies can be exchanged at the hotels and pawnshops, and ATM machines are widely available throughout Ulaanbaatar and provincial centers. However, Australian dollars can usually only be exchanged at banks. Traveler's checks can be cashed at banks and major credit cards are accepted at most places in the capital, but only Mongolian cash is accepted in the countryside. We recommend that you travel with Mongolian national currency equal to at least $200 when touring in the countryside.

Souvenirs

Like any other places, Mongolia offers great souvenirs ranging from camel wool sweaters to cashmere scarves and traditional wooden puzzle games. Mongolian vodkas can be an excellent gift. At several stores, you can also find a range of traditional Mongolian musical instruments such as the famed Morin Khuur or "horse headed fiddle." Bargaining is not very customary; most items are sold for the price on their labels. If you plan to shop for souvenirs, we recommend purchasing locally as many items as possible since your purchases will be a direct contribution to the local community.

Travel Insurance

With Mongolia stretching over 1.5 million square kilometers and its population concentrated in the cities, we will be traveling through some remote areas away from good roads and medical facilities. We strongly recommend that you consider getting standard emergency medical evacuation insurance as a means to protect yourself from unexpected accidents that can happen during any trip. Nothing is better than traveling with peace of mind knowing that you have prepared for the trip as much as possible in advance

Traveling with Mongolia Quest

Because it is still a developing country, traveling in Mongolia requires a sense of humor and patience. New roads and bridges are being built every year, but the paved road system is still limited in the countryside. You may experience flight delays and find road conditions bumpy and dusty. But the experience of traveling in Mongolia will far exceed some personal compromises in comfort. We like to say that the best part of traveling in Mongolia is spontaneous events and interactions, which lead to unexpected interactions, discoveries, and experiences that will make your trip unique and memorable. At Mongolia Quest, we ensure the integrity of your overall itinerary but at the same time, will go out of our way to make necessary changes in order to enrich your travel experience with us.

ENJOY YOUR TRIP!
