Nomadic Adventure at Gun Galuut Nature Reserve

Date: June to August

Price: Starts from $300

Trip Summary

Gun Galuut Nature Reserve, nestled in the scenic valley of the Kherlen River near the Khentii Mountains, was established in 2003 to protect the region's rich biodiversity. The reserve is home to a variety of nationally and globally endangered species, including Argali sheep, Siberian cranes, White-naped cranes, Black vultures, and Swan geese. In the early 2000s, marmots, once extinct in the valley, were successfully reintroduced. The mountains of Baits and Berkh provide a vital sanctuary for these remarkable species, making the reserve a true haven for wildlife.

Itinerary

Day 1: Chinggis Khan Statue & Gun Galuut Reserve

Start your day with a visit to the towering Chinggis Khan Equestrian Statue and its museum complex. Climb to the top for panoramic views, then continue to the 13th-century complex to experience archery, horseback riding, and a traditional Mongolian lunch. In the evening, transfer to Gun Galuut Nature Reserve. (Ger camp; L, D)

Day 2: Gun Galuut to Ulaanbaatar

Enjoy a morning of hiking, horseback riding, or optional fishing in the scenic landscapes of Gun Galuut. After lunch, return to Ulaanbaatar. (B, L)

Wild Journey to Hustai National Park

Date: Throughout the year

Price: Starts from $340

Trip Summary

Hustai National Park is one of only 3 sites where the wild horses, known as Takhi or Przewalski's Horses, have been successfully reintroduced over the past two decades. After the last wild individuals disappeared from Mongolia in the late 1960s, genetically pure Przewalski's horses were bred in European zoos and later reintroduced into three distinct habitats in Mongolia. In Hustai, we will have the rare opportunity to observe these magnificent, truly wild horses in their natural steppe environment. The Takhi's reintroduction stands as one of the few successful cases of a large mammal being brought back into its former range after local extinction.

Itinerary

Day 1: Hustai National Park

In the morning, transfer to Hustai National Park, situated 120 km west of Ulaanbaatar. (2-hour drive). Upon arrival, check into your gers. After lunch, visit the local information center and watch a documentary on Takhi horses. Explore this diverse park of natural grasslands, mountains, and river shores with further encounters with Takhi herds. Overnight at the camp. (Ger camp; L, D)

Day 2: Visit Nomadic Family/Ulaanbaatar

In the morning, explore more of Hustai National Park with an optional visit to a local herder family and the nearby 7th-century Ongot Turkic monuments. After lunch at the camp, return to Ulaanbaatar. (B, L)

Hike & Meditate at Terelj National Park

Date: Throughout the year

Price: Starts from $320

Trip Summary

Located only 70 km east of Ulaanbaatar, the Terelj National Park offers explorers an opportunity to experience Mongolian wilderness up close. It is located on the confluence of two major river systems: Tuul and Terelj. It has many well-established ger camps and offers excellent horseback riding and hiking opportunities in its spectacular valley. It has interesting rock formations, millions of years old, and has a very rich plant life.

Itinerary

Day 1: Terelj National Park

In the morning, visit the iconic Chinggis Khaan Equestrian Statue, featuring a museum, exhibits, and shops. Climb to the horse's head for panoramic views of the Tuul River valley. Continue to Terelj National Park and settle into a ger camp. After lunch, enjoy horseback riding or visit a local family. Dinner and overnight at the camp. (Ger camp; L, D)

Day 2: Ariyabal meditation temple/ Ulaanbaatar

In the morning, visit Ariyabal Monastery, a Tibetan-style meditation temple originally built in the 19th century and later rebuilt after the 1930s purges. Enjoy a peaceful hike in the surrounding area before returning to the ger camp for lunch. In the afternoon, drive back to the city. (L)

Souvenirs:

Like any other places, Mongolia offers great souvenirs ranging from camel wool sweaters to cashmere scarves and traditional wooden puzzle games. Mongolian vodkas can be an excellent gift. At several stores, you can also find a range of traditional Mongolian musical instruments such as the famed Morin Khuur or "horse headed fiddle." Bargaining is not very customary; most items are sold for the price on their labels. If you plan to shop for souvenirs, we recommend purchasing locally as many items as possible since your purchases will be a direct contribution to the local community.

Travel insurance:

With Mongolia stretching over 1.5 million square kilometers and its population concentrated in the cities, we will be traveling through some remote areas away from good roads and medical facilities. We strongly recommend that you consider getting standard emergency medical evacuation insurance as a means to protect yourself from unexpected accidents that can happen during any trip. Nothing is better than traveling with peace of mind knowing that you have prepared for the trip as much as possible in advance.

Traveling with Mongolia Quest:

Because it is still a developing country, traveling in Mongolia requires a sense of humor and patience. New roads and bridges are being built every year, but the paved road system is still limited in the countryside. You may experience flight delays and find road conditions bumpy and dusty. But the experience of traveling in Mongolia will far exceed some personal compromises in comfort. We like to say that the best part of traveling in Mongolia is spontaneous events and interactions, which lead to unexpected interactions, discoveries, and experiences that will make your trip unique and memorable. At Mongolia Quest, we ensure the integrity of your overall itinerary but at the same time, will go out of our way to make necessary changes in order to enrich your travel experience with us.
